

Seasearcher Credit Risk

Get clarity on counterparty risk

Independent. Current. Complete.

Know your customer

As a business working with shipping organisations, you need trustworthy and current third party credit risk intelligence. It's essential to evaluate counterparty risk and decide credit terms.

But in today's business landscape, company credit ratings are changing far more frequently, meaning access to trustworthy and current financial data has never been more important.

Seasearcher Credit Risk

Get clarity from an independent source and evaluate the ability of a counterpart to fulfil its financial obligations.

Seasearcher Credit Risk offers an easy to use, independent and validated view of the financial health of over 15,000 maritime companies, with further background data on assets if you need them.

In addition, it gives you access to our vessel research and tracking database, so you get a complete view of your counterpart's fleet of vessels and detailed data on their operations and ownership.

Tailored to support "Know Your Customer" checks and credit analysis work, our credit risk reports are relied on by organisations all over the world.
